

Assistant Professors in Speech-Language Pathology

Position: Northern Illinois University seeks applicants for tenure-track Assistant Professors in Speech-Language Pathology. Start date is negotiable. Contract will be for the nine-month academic year (August-May); summer teaching is often available. Required: Ph.D., a current CCC-SLP and be eligible for Illinois state licensure in speech-language pathology.

Description: Teach undergraduate and graduate courses in speech-language pathology in areas of expertise and interest, develop a personal research program, direct student research, and participate in clinical education of students. Faculty members also participate in departmental, college, and university committee work.

Closing Date:

How to Apply:

Send a letter of application, curriculum vita, official graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation to:

Sue E. Ouellette, Ph.D., Chair
School of Allied Health and Communicative Disorders
Northern Illinois University
DeKalb, Illinois 60115
souellet@niu.edu